

Our Client is a successful reputable international company, which develop, manufacture, service, and rent industrial tools. In order to support the further development of their operations in Serbia, we are searching for motivated and experienced candidates for the following position based in Belgrade:

Sales Engineer - Belgrade

The role

Do you get energy when you can make your customers happy? Is your day successful when you can help them, whether they speak Serbian or English? Do you like to work in an environment where innovation and sustainability play an important role? Come and join a team where the National Sales Manager and your colleagues will be happy to support you with their expertise.

We are looking for someone who enjoys autonomy and meeting new customers every day. Someone with an affinity for technology and a lot of "sales" appetite would be ideal for this role.

Are you motivated to immerse yourself in the world of compressors? Are you interested in solutions that our products can offer in the form of energy or production line optimization? Do you like to put your energy into an ambitious growth plan and see it come to fruition?

Experience & Knowledge

- 3+ Sales experiences in industrial equipment
- Technical background or qualification
- Experience or knowledge of compressed air industry
- Good command of English language
- Knowledge of MS Office, of ERP and CRM systems with desire to learn new applications
- Excellent interpersonal skills and the ability to build strong relationship with customers

Our Client offers excellent working conditions with a possibility for further professional development.